EDINBURGH:
PRINTED FOR THE SCOTTISH BURGH RECORDS SOCIETY.
MDCCCLXXV.

SCOTTISH BURGH RECORDS SOCIETY.

COMMITTEE.

The Right Hon. Sir WILLIAM GIBSON CRAIG of Riccarton, Bart., Lord Clerk Register.
The Right Hon. the LORD PROVOST of Edinburgh.
The Hon. the LORD PROVOST of Glasgow.
The Hon. Lord NEAVES.
Sir JAMES LUMSDEN of Arden.
WILLIAM CHAMBERS, Esq. of Glenormiston, LL.D.
DAVID LAING, Esq., LL.D.
JOHN STUART, Esq., LL.D.
JOHN HILL BURTON, Esq., LL.D., Historiographer-Royal for Scotland.

SECRETARY—JAMES D. MARWICK, Esq., Town-Clerk, formerly of Edinburgh, now of Glasgow, and Clerk to the Convention of the Royal Burghs of Scotland.

TREASURER—T. B. JOHNSTON, Esq., 4 St. Andrew Square, Edinburgh.

THE value of the early Records of the Burghs of Scotland, as throwing light upon national life and manners, explaining national institutions, and illustrating social progress, has been fully recognized, and can scarcely be exaggerated. Some of the Book Clubs, which have contributed so much to the elucidation of Scottish History, have already directed their attention to these Records. The Spalding Club has given the country a peculiarly interesting and valuable series of extracts from the Records of the Burgh of Aberdeen, while the Maitland Club has published notices from the Records of Dysart, and extracts from the Burgh Records of Glasgow, Prestwick, Edinburgh, and Canongate. Apart, however, from what has been done in regard to Aberdeen, it cannot be said that much more has been effected than merely to break ground in the direction of investigating and publishing extracts from the Burgh Records of Scotland; and as nothing more is now to be hoped from the Book Clubs which still exist, this Society has been formed for the special purpose of undertaking the work.

Besides extracts from the Burgh Records, copies of the Charters of Burghs and illustrative Extracts from contemporary local Records will be given, as far as may be considered desirable.

The annual subscription is One Guinea, payable in advance, on the first day of January. The first subscription was payable on 1st January, 1868. A payment of £7 7s. will entitle any member to a copy of the seven volumes which have been issued, and to the volume which is now ready for delivery.

The Extracts from the Records of each Burgh will, as far as the Committee consider expedient, be issued separately, and without adhering to any prescribed order.

As affording a key to much that is to be found in the Records of the Burghs, and as generally illustrative of municipal institutions in Scotland, the Committee resolved to publish, in early volumes of the series, the Laws of Scotland relating to the Burghs, down to the accession of James VI. to the crown of England, and probably to the union of the two kingdoms. In pursuance of this design, they have already issued a volume containing the Laws of the Four Burghs, and the old Laws relating to the Burghs, from the earliest period of record till the return of James I. to Scotland in 1424. The editing of that work, and the preparation of the introductory historical sketch of the Burghs prefaced to it, were undertaken by the late Professor COSMO INNES, who also undertook the editing of the second volume, which was passing through the press at the time of his lamented death. The completion of this volume will be entrusted to a competent editor.

A volume of Extracts from the oldest Records of the City of Edinburgh, extending from 1403 till 1528, and including all that is now known to exist of the burghal legislation of the capital during that period, was delivered to the members during March, 1870. A second volume, containing Extracts from these Records, and Selections from the Accounts of the Treasurers and Deans of Guild of the City, down to 1556-7, was issued in December, 1871. A third volume, containing selections from the Records of the City till 1571, is now ready for issue; and a fourth, and probably concluding, volume, containing selections from the Accounts of the City, a general Preface, and Index of matters in the four volumes, is in preparation.

The Corporation of Edinburgh having authorized the transcription and printing, for its own purposes, of its oldest Charters and other muniments, was pleased to allow the Scottish Burgh Records Society to print off copies for the use of the members of the Society. That volume, containing Charters from 1143 to 1540, was delivered to the members in January, 1871. The preparation of a second volume has been authorized, and is in progress.

The editing of "Selections from the Burgh Records of Aberdeen" having been undertaken by JOHN STUART, Esq., LL.D., in continuation of the series prepared by him for the Spalding Club, a volume of Extracts from these Records, extending from 1625 till 1642, was delivered to the members in November, 1871. A second and concluding volume, containing selections from the Burgh Records, from 1643 till 1747, was issued in May, 1872.

A volume containing a selection of Charters relating to the Burgh of Peebles, with Extracts from the oldest Records of the Burgh, and a Preface and Historical Introduction by WILLIAM CHAMBERS, Esq. of Glenormiston, LL.D., author of the "History of Peebleshire," was issued in January, 1873.

The Corporation of Stirling has ordered the transcription of the oldest Records of that Burgh, selections from which, with transcripts of its Charters and muniments, will speedily be ready for the press.

Arrangements are also in progress for proceeding with a similar volume relating to the City of Perth.

The Corporation of Glasgow has authorized the transcription and printing, for its own purposes, of its oldest Charters, and has agreed to allow the Scottish Burgh Records Society to print copies for the use of its members. Considerable progress has been made in the printing of this volume.

Transcripts have also been made from the oldest Records of the Burgh of Glasgow, including four early volumes which were supposed to have been lost, but which have been discovered within the last few months. The first volume of this collection will be immediately sent to press.

Selections from the Records of the Burghs of Haddington, Dunfermline, and Dysart are also being prepared.

In the execution of the work to which the Society thus addresses itself, and which is of great local as well as national importance, the Committee hope to receive substantial assistance from the larger Burghs whose Charters and Records may be from time to time published. Meanwhile the Committee will be glad to receive from Town-Clerks and other custodiers of public documents, such information as they can give in regard to original documents in their possession, illustrative of the constitution and early history of the municipal institutions of the country, and to communicate with such Burghs as may be desirous to co-operate with the Committee in publishing selections from their earliest Records.

The Committee have to deplore the death of two of their members—Adam Black, Esq. of Priorbank, and Professor Innes. The support which Mr. Black's connection and sympathy with the Society gave it could scarcely be overestimated. His great experience and sagacity ensured that the operations of the Society, in which he took a warm interest, would be conducted with prudence; and the universal confidence and respect which he enjoyed communicated somewhat of stability to it. The sudden removal of Professor Innes creates a blank which cannot be supplied. He was one of the originators of the Society, and his active support and valuable counsel were always at its service. Sympathizing very warmly with everything which tended to facilitate or stimulate archæological investigations, he was always ready to aid less skilful labourers in the same field, and to encourage and foster the objects of this Association.

PREFACE.

PREFACE.

THE present volume, which forms the third of the series of "Extracts from the Records of the Burgh of Edinburgh," contains a selection, mainly from the Council Register, of extracts relating to matters of national interest, or illustrative of the history of the Scottish Capital from 1557 till 1571.

The volume opens with the imposition on Edinburgh of its proportion of a national tax to defray the expenses of the marriage of Queen Mary with the Dauphin of France. It closes with the Queen deposed and a prisoner in England; Scotland distracted by two factions, one professing allegiance to the Queen, the other supporting the cause of her son; the Castle of Edinburgh held for her by Sir William Kirkcaldy of Grange, and the Regent Lennox preparing to besiege it.

As might be expected, the records of the Burgh during these fourteen years contain frequent references to the important events that were taking place, many of them in the City and in its immediate vicinity; and it is hoped that the present volume which contains everything of general interest in the records during the period over which the selections extend, will be found to possess some interest as a contribution to the history not only of Edinburgh, but of Scotland.

It is curious to notice the ordinary stream of every-day life in the town flowing on during these years, side by side with that great current of human thought which was undermining and sweeping away old forms of faith and venerable institutions, and changing the whole aspect of Scottish character and history. When England and France were both prosecuting their schemes for attaching Scotland, and the issues of their diplomacy could not fail to exercise a momentous influence over the future of the country, the burgesses are to be found in these pages occupied in building the Newhaven; in discussing, with much keenness and not little acrimony, the relative rights and privileges of merchants and craftsmen; in extending civic hospitalities to distinguished strangers; in legislating as to the prices of victuals and the situation of markets, the repair of public buildings and highways, and all the varied details of every-day burghal life. The frequent references to "our auld enemies of England," and to the precautions to be observed against invasion by them; the ordinances as to providing armour, and as to weaponshawings and musters, as to building up approaches to the town through closes and wynds, as to furnishing artillery and gunners, and as to removing the charters and evidents of the Burgh to the Castle for safety,—all recall vividly the unhappy relations which then existed between England and Scotland. But still, absorbing as such interests must have been, appealing directly to instincts of self-preservation, as well as to sentiments of national honour, the citizens seem at no time to have been inattentive to the concerns of their daily trade within and without the Burgh. Monopoly was the order of that day, and the privileged trader was very jealous of his rights, and very careful to prevent their being invaded by those who did not possess the freedom of the town as burgesses, and the freedom of the merchant-guild or of a handicraft. As strictly, also, did the community guard its corporate rights from encroachment by adjoining and less-favoured districts. Leith, the port of the capital, to which Edinburgh then stood in a position of feudal superiority, had not the valuable and much-coveted privileges of trade. These belonged exclusively to Edinburgh, by whom they were guarded with a strictness and severity scarcely intelligible at the present day, but quite consistent with the policy and practice of the sixteenth century. Of the relations between the City and its dependency this volume affords abundant illustration. But it would be as unwarrantable to estimate the action of the citizens and authorities of the Edinburgh of that time towards Leith by the standard of the received notions of the present day, as it would now be to foster or perpetuate the jealousies of those times. The real interests of the two communities can never be antagonistic: a wise policy of mutual respect and conciliation, and a drawing together on all matters of common concern, will, it is to be hoped, lead ultimately to permanent union on the basis of common rights, interests, and privileges.

Unfortunately, the records of most of the Scottish Burghs previous to 1571 are not now extant; and as those of Edinburgh are, by reason of its being the capital, peculiarly interesting, it has been resolved to proceed forthwith with the publication of a fourth volume. The requisite transcripts are being made, and will be placed without delay in the hands of the printer.

It was intended that this volume should have contained selections from the accounts of the Treasurers and Deans of Guild for the period over which it extends, and its publication has been delayed for some time in the hope that this intention might be carried into effect. The City Chamberlain, Mr. Adam, whose intimate acquaintance with these accounts fits him beyond any other person for making the requisite selections and transcripts, kindly undertook the work, and has made considerable progress with it, but has been prevented from completing it by the pressure of other and more important duties. The fourth volume of extracts from the Records will probably be ready in the course of the present year, and the selections from the accounts from 1557 till the last date of the forthcoming volume will accompany it.

The Historical Preface, which was also intended to accompany the present volume, will be reserved for the next, or for the concluding volume, should it be resolved to carry down the selections from the Edinburgh Records to a still more recent date.

Since the first volume of Edinburgh Records was published, further investigation has enabled the List of Provosts, Presidents, Bailies, and Office-Bearers to be rendered more complete subsequent to 1500. The List appended to the present volume includes all the information which has been obtained on this subject from 1527-28, down to and including 1570-71.

9 April 1561.

Propositiouns of the dekynnis for the fleschouris. [Referring to a previous act of the council as to the removing of the fleshers from the fleshmarket, Robert Henrisoun, on behalf of the deacons of crafts, alleged "that in sa far as the saidis fleschouris wer remouit by the avise and consent of the dekynnis, [thay had been] evill done to, forsamekle as in tymes past in transporting of all merkettis or placcing of thame the saidis dekynnis consenttis and voittis wer requyrit, as is notour be the speciall actis maid vpoun the transporting of the clayth merket, in the yeiris of God j m v c lv and lvij yeris," and therefore any act as to removal of the fleshmarket passed without consent of the deacons was contrary to their privileges; "quhairfor he in name foresaid desyrit it to be votit of new concernyng the changing of the merket and thair voittis hard thairintill." The deacons thereupon ratified and approved "the ordinance and decreit laitlie set furth and pronouncit aganis the flesheouris," "for the commoun weill."

Decreit aganis Fleschouris. The provost bailies and council, knowing the disobedience of the fleshers in refusing to pay their mails and duties or to remove from the fleshmarket, decerned them to remove, "and to place thair said stokis and hald merket at the west pairt and end of the tolbuth stair quhair the landis merket stude of before."]

The prouest baillies counsale and [hale dekynnis], vnderstanding the place quhair the victuell merkettis is presentlie haldin, viz., vpoun the Hie Streit abone the tolbuth, to be na convenient place in respect of the thrang of merkettis haldin thair, and for vtheris diuers caussis moving thame concernyng the commoun weill, findis gude and all in ane voce decernis concludis and granttis the said victuell merket be changit and transporttit to the biggit place quhair the flesche merket is presentlie haldin sa sone as ane convenient vther place may be gottin bocht and bigit for the saidis fleschouris. 22 July 1562.

The provest baillies and counsale sittand in iugement, in the terme assignit to maister William Robertsoun, pretendit maister of the hie scole of Edinburgh, to preif the last twa exceptionis admittit to be provin this day be him coniunctim proponit aganis the clame intentit contrar him be maister Jhonne Moscrop, procuratour for the toun, as suld be prescriueit be the saidis provest, baillies, and counsale, comperit the said maister Williame, and for probatioun of the saidis exceptionis producit ane gift maid to him be the abbat of Halierudehous, with consent

[Robertsoun, master of High School.]

[Robertsoun, master of High School.] of the abbay of Camskynneth his coadiutour et administratour, subscriueit with the said abbat of Halierudehous hand and seillit with the cheptour seill thairof, of the dait the tent day of Januar, the yeir of God jm vc xlvj yeris, and als producit ane tikat contening the names underwrittin, viz., Lord Provand, maister Eduard Henresoun, maister Alexander Sym, maister Jhonne Marioribankis, baillie, maister Alexander Skene, maister Thomas Craig, Alexander Chaip, merchand, James, James, Carmichell, James Harlaw writer, Patrik Govane belman, Patrik Kene, Robert Craig, Alexander Bruce, barbour, maister Henrie Blakwod, maister Jhonne Scherp Jhonne Sinclare, Jhonne Ker, James Richie, Gul. Strang, Williame Broun, Jho. M'Calyeane, Fra. Adamsoun, to preif the rest of the saidis exceptionis; and the iuges assignis to the said maister Jhonne Moscrop, Setterday nixttocum to produce his obiectionis aganis the said letter of gift partibus citatis.

Maister Jhonne Moscrop allegeit that na witnes suld be ressauit vpoun that parte of the said maister Williamis exceptiounis anent his qualificatioun, quhair he offeris to preif the negatiue of the affirmatiue contenit in the said maister Jhonneis claime, viz., that he is qualifeit in grammer, greik and latene, etc., because the probatioun thairof, according to the tennor of the last act and pronunceing of the interlocutour, suld be prescriueit and appointit to him be the provest baillies and counsale, viz., that the said maister William suld gyf demonstratioun of his sciences and artis, being examinat be sic cunning and leirnit men as thai can find maist abill thairto, and the said maister William allegeit in the contrar and disassentit to all vther examinatioun nor be the witnes abone writtin.

The iuges findis that the probatioun and tryale of that pairt of the said allegeance proponit be the said maister William tuiching his habilitie and qualificatioun aucht and sould ressave vther ordour tryale and probatioun nor be particular witnes, as vther commoun allegeanceis requiris, and as the said maister William desireis, viz., be demonstratioun of his science eruditioun and knawledge, being examinat be cunning and leirnit men of vnderstanding, in sic sciences ordour and maneris as ar requeseit to be in ane man of sic place of doctrine as the said maister Williame pretendis, and thairfore assignis to the said maister William to compeir before the provest baillies and counsale on Fryday nixtocum, betuix ij and iij houreis efternone, in the over tolbuith of this burgh, new beigit, and thair to ressaue vse and leid tryale and probatioun of his said qualificatioun and eruditioun be demonstratioun and ostentioun of his science and knawledge, being thairanent examinat and requireit as ordour is, in presence of the saidis provest baillies and counsale, be thir personis vnderwrittin, viz., the superintendent of Lothiane, maister Johnne Craig, minister of Halierudehous, maister George Hay, maister George Baquhannane, maister James Panter, maister Jhonne Hendersoun, maister Clement Litill, maister James Kinpont, maister Dauid Colles, maister Alexander Sym, or the maist pairt, or ane sufficient nummer of thame, quha than war nemmit and appointit in presence of the said maister Williame, with certificatioun gyf he comperit nocht the tyme abone writtin to the effect foirsaid, the said exceptioun anent his qualificatioun suld be haldin as vnprovin. The said maister Jhonne and maister William warnit heirof apud acta. [Robertsoun, master of High School.]

Maister William Robertsoun protestit for remeid of law and reductioun of the interlocutour abone writtin and alluterlie disassentit thairto.

Maister Johnne Moscrop askit instrumentis that maister William Robertsoun refuseit to gyf demonstratioun of his knawledge, being examinit be the leirnit men abone writtin, and, in case he comperit nocht on Fryday nixttocum the tyme and place appointit, protestit he be repute thairefter na apt nor erudite persoun for sic office and place of doctrine as he pretendis, and siclike for circumduction of the terme.

24 July 1562.

The provest baillies and counsale, in the tolbuith, comperit maister Jhonne Moscrop, as in the terme assignit to maister Williame Robertsoun to gif demonstratioun and ostentioun of his qualificatioun, being examinat be the cunning and leirnit men appointit in his awin presence in iugement the xxij of Julii lastbipast, and protestit that insafer as this day wes assignit to the said maister William to gif demonstratioun of his erudition and knawlege be examinatioun of the leirnit men heir present, for probatioun of his exceptioun as towart his qualificatioun specifiit thairin, and that the said cunning men war heir present according to the desire of the [Robertsoun, master of High School.] terme, reddy to examine him vpoun [his qualification,] his said exceptioun anent the qualificatioun be haldin and repute as vnprovin according to the certificatioun contenit in the last act.

The samyn day, maister Edmound Hay protestit that be the confessioun of the said maister Jhonne that the desire of this terme is onlie vpoun the probatioun of his qualificatioun, quhilk is ane pairt of his exceptioun, that thair be na forder done as this day sen the desire of the terme requireit na forder as this day.

The jugeis circumduces the exceptioun proponit be maister William Roberttoun anent the probatioun of his qualificatioun this day vpoun his manifest contempt and contumelie warnit to this day apud acta to the effect foirsaid and comperit nocht, and thairfore admittit the said maister Jhonne Moscropis protestatioun aganis him.

25 July 1562.

The provest baillies and counsale, sittand in iugement, comperit maister Jhonne Moscrop and producit his allegeit obiectionis into writ aganis the pretendit gift producit be maister William Roberttoun, for probatioun of ane pairt of his exceptionis admittit to his probatioun, and ordanis the said maister William Roberttoun tobe warnit agane Tyisday nixttocum to gif in ansueris in writ to the saidis obiectionis, the said maister Jhonne warnit apud acta.

6 August 1562.

[Mr William Robertson having produced answers "in writ" to the objections against his gift, the judges assigned Saturday next to give sentence.]

11 August 1562.

The baillies sittand in iugement, be sentence interlocutour, efter avisement with thair assessouris, repellis the haill ansueris of maister William Robertsoun maid to the obiectionis gevin in aganis his gift of scholemaisterschip be maister Jhonne Moscrop in the actioun and caus persewit aganis him be the said maister Jhonne and admittis the said maister Jhonne to preif the minoritie of the abbat of Halierudhous specifiit in the first of his saidis obiectionis, viz., the said abbat to haue bene within the aige of xiiij yeris the tyme of the granting of the said gift to the said maister William and that in respect of the contentis of the said gift, and for probatioun thairof assignis to him Furisday nixttocum.
